CLIPSETTA STAKES

First run at the original Latonia Race Course, the Clipsetta Stakes was dropped from the schedule in 1937, two years before the track closed. The Clipsetta was revived in 1959 at the new Latonia, now Turfway Park, and returned to the regular schedule in 1964. The race became the Kentucky Cup Juvenile Fillies with the inaugural running of the Kentucky Cup Day of Champions in 1994.

INAUGURAL HANDICAP

The Inaugural Handicap was, with a few exceptions, the opening night feature at the original Latonia Race Course from 1913 to 1939 and at the new Latonia, now Turfway Park, from 1960 to 1979. With the renaming of the racetrack in 1986, the race was resurrected briefly as the Inaugural Stakes in 1986 and the Fall Inaugural Stakes in 1987.

MARFA STAKES

Three-Year-Olds and Upward, Six and one-half furlongs

The Marfa Stakes is named for the famously bad-tempered winner of the 1983 Jim Beam Stakes, now the Jeff Ruby Steaks. Marfa was the first winner of the Turfway Park prep to spark national interest as one of the Kentucky Derby favorites. He finished fifth behind Sunny's Halo.
